DESI Labels

DESI labels allow the printing of the programmable functions keys for each terminal.

Each SL2100 terminal is supplied with a blank paper label that can be written on by hand, a printed DESI label provides a professional alternative.

DESI software is available to download that supports the printing of all labels.

1- DESI Software

Download the DESI Application

DESI Software is available to download from www.desi.com

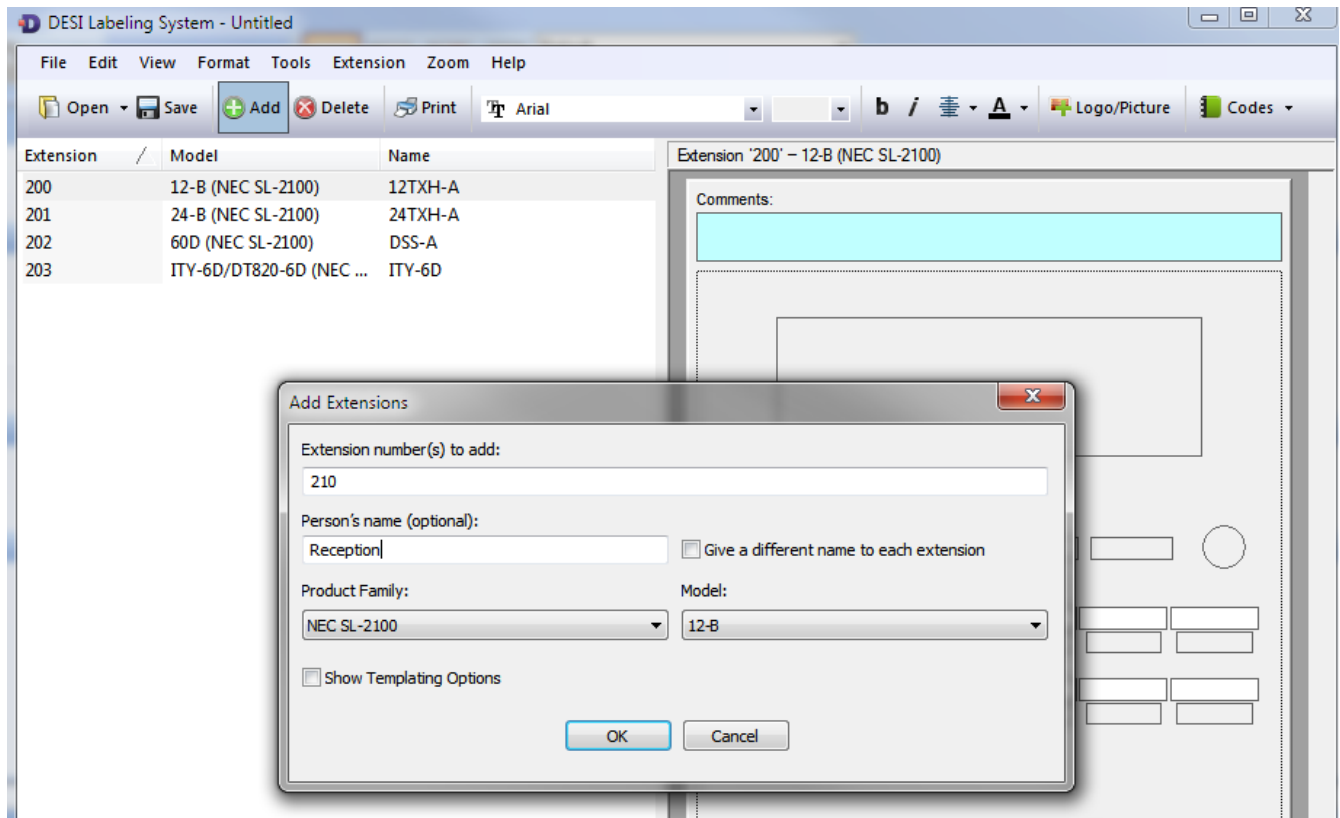

There is a user guide and training video available from the DESI website.

Once you have downloaded and installed the DESI application there is a Getting Started Video Guide available – select Help >Getting Started.

Using the DESI Application

Add a new extension and select the Product Family and Model type. Enter the extension name and number and click OK.

Select each key and enter the text

You can create a range of labels with the same key designations by using the templating feature.

- Create the template layout as above.
- Add a new label
- In the Extension number(s) to add box add you range of extensions eg 201, 202, 205, 210-215
- Tick 'Give a different name to each extension' if you want to name each label. You can also edit each label afterwards if necessary, double click the label after it's created to edit the name.
- Tick the Show Templating Options box
- Select you template label
- Click OK
